Lots of golfers out! That's what we like to see.

Five young men from Pathways, the Mt. Home therapeutic wilderness camp, under the direction of our board member Ralph Tinney, came over Saturday to earn community work credit by weeding, mowing, digging out sand pits and removing limbs and sticks. And work they did! We appreciate their efforts and Ralph's great idea! They received a meal afterwards, as a reward for their hard work, compliments of member Robert Cabello, manager/owner of the local Sonic.

On the menu were bacon cheeseburgers, fries, drinks and a chocolate cake made by one of the club members. Sherry Tinnney, at the clubhouse, had this to say about the group: "Junction Golf Association would like to extend a big thank you to Pathways. It was a pleasure to meet such well-mannered, hard-working youth. They accomplished a lot. Thanks to Mark and Kenny for allowing them to come out, and to Robert Cabello. We especially thank all concerned at Pathways for making this day possible."

The winners of the Thursday Scramble were George Perez, Troy Hardesty and Kenny Smart. George was closest to the pin. Good for you, gentlemen!

Jack Hoggett, board member and former high school golf coach, did a little more coaching Saturday morning. At the driving range, Mary Lambeth Lindecke, Roxanne Fargason and Jan King got the benefit of Jack's experience. Wife Rosemary came along to support and encourage the students! Thanks, both of you! All students came away with better skills with the driver, pitching wedge and putter.

Golfers, if you would donate not-so-perfect balls to Sherry, she will keep a big bucket available for driving range practice and rental.

Becky Wreyford and Jan King got in a round of golf Friday morning. Becky's been tied up with grandkids, but is eager to get back in the swing of things. She made some great shots, so being out for a while hasn't hurt. Gloria Abilez and Roxanne Fargason were also out on their now regular Friday morning round. Diane Townsend and Becky Stapper have a standing Wednesday, after-school, golf round scheduled. If anyone wants to join in, or schedule another day of golf, give any of these above-mentioned ladies a call.

Belated good wishes to Ruth James, who had a birthday September 1. Ruth was out of town all week, visiting her sister, but is gearing up to get back out there on the golf course.

The quote of the week is from Bobby Jones, pro golfer: "Competitive golf is played mainly on a five-and-a-half inch course ... the space between your ears."

See you on the golf course!!

Digging and mowing from Pathways of Mt. Home, these four young men are a big help
